Figures Show Why School Expansion In City Is Needed

Salem's board of education last night pondered a serious problem facing the city.

The problem is one that indicates a need for expansion and improvement of the city's school building accommodations.

This was outlined at the special meeting in the High school building by a detailed survey, based on present enrollments and birth records in the city since 1940.

The survey revealed that anticipated enrollments, beginning with the fall term this year and extending through the fall term of 1951, will jump from 1945's 1,179 grade students to approximately 1,502.

The board generally agreed that the figures mean this:

1) Additional facilities will have to be made available to take care of the load brought about by increased birth rates since 1940, without any consideration of the fact that at least one building now in use is beyond the repairable stage.

2) Columbia Street school is beyond safe usage and must be abandoned.

3) Columbia Street's present enrollment will have to be housed elsewhere, probably through an expansion program at Reilly school. (Tentative talk placed additions to make Reilly a 20 class room structure.)

4) Immediate expansion is a vital need at Fourth Street school's grade section, where enrollment will be 93 students above what is considered capacity this fall and will reach 228 students above the capacity by 1950.

5) Improvements in capacity, safety, health and teaching conditions are needed at Prospect Street, McKinley, Fourth Street's Junior High section and Reilly schools.

6) The High school is in need of a more complete athletic and recreational plant, as is the Junior High school.

7) Barring any improvements to outmoded structures now in the system, the grade schools alone will require at least 10 more school rooms by the fall of 1951.

Fourth Street School Is Crowded

Discussion of the problem was all the board accomplished last night, but the board members seemed impressed with the fact that action will have to be taken within the near future to alleviate the problem.

In Fourth Street grades alone, not considering the crowded condition of the Junior High located there, enrollment will be 373 next fall.

That figure is 93 students above what is considered by educational experts as maximum (and crowded) conditions. Further, the attendance there will rise to 434 in 1947, 478 in 1948, 492 in 1949, reaching a peak of

Two Distinct Programs In Mind

Columbia students could be handled at Reilly school if facilities were expanded there to include about 20 class rooms.

The situation, the survey shows, is similar throughout the city, with large increases expected in every school but Prospect Street, where the enrollment will grow, but will not go beyond bounds considered reasonable for the facilities available.

The board reached no decision as to just what long-range building program it will recommend to the public, but it has two distinct programs in mind which are being considered to alleviate the seven points mentioned above and other deficiencies.

Further study of the problem, with an eye to submission to the public in the form of a bond issue, is on the board agenda for the next few months.

Supt. E. S. Kerr explained that the survey was made on the basis of enrollments now in the schools.

NEW YORK, May 21.—A twin-engine Army plane, groping blindly through a 400-foot overcast, crashed into the 58th floor of the 72-story bank of the Manhattan company building in the skyscraper-packed financial district last night, bringing death to all its occupants, a WAC lieutenant and four army officers.

The ship disintegrated in a blinding flash of flames after exploding against the rear of the Wall Street building—the world's fourth highest—and sent showers of flaming debris hurtling to the pavement. The building is 927 feet high.

One witness said "the flames seemed to pour down from floor to floor." The fires quickly were extinguished. Police estimates put the number of persons in the building at the time of the accident at from 500 to 2,000. The building has about 5,000 occupants during the day.

None of the persons in the structure was injured but five were struck by flaming particles in the street.

Byrnes Puts Russia On Spot Over Peace

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Secretary of State Byrnes gave Russia its choice today.

Stop blocking an European peace conference this summer, else the United States will walk out of the dragging Big Four treaty talks and carry the whole matter before the United Nations.

Proclaiming an American "offensive for peace," Byrnes left no doubt in his radio address to the nation last night that it would be carried out even at the expense of the basic postwar ideal that the great victor nations should act in unison to fashion the future.

The cabinet officer made it perfectly plain that he held Russia responsible for the disappointing outcome of the foreign ministers conference which recessed in Paris last Thursday until June 15.

His formal report on that conference listed a half dozen outstanding issues with Moscow on which he indicated the United States would not compromise.

From the aggressive but confident tone of his speech it was apparent—and officials confirmed this—that Byrnes is counting on Moscow conferences between Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and Premier Stalin during the recess to reverse or modify the Russian position on these questions.

Confident Of Peace Meeting
On the one looming biggest in his estimate—the making of peace treaties so that the nations of Europe can begin to "live and breathe" again, Byrnes declared he was confident there would be a peace conference of the European nations and other interested powers this summer.

Recalling that at Paris Molotov blocked such a proposal, Byrnes said this power to stop "all efforts toward peace" must not be left to any one nation and added:

"If a peace conference is not called this summer, the United States will feel obliged to request the general assembly of the United Nations under article 14 of the charter to make recommendations with respect to the peace settlement."

The article he cited gives the assembly power to intervene in any situation involving the general welfare of the world.

"There is no iron curtain," Byrnes said, "that the aggregate sentiments of mankind cannot penetrate."

Of the Paris meeting he said that progress toward peace settlements in Europe had been "disappointingly small" but that some progress had been made—chiefly in clarifying issues and letting the governments of the four powers know where they stand with relation to each other.

Most early congressional reaction to Byrnes' speech was favorable but Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) told a reporter he considered it a report on "another failure."

Chairman Connally (D-Texas) of the senate foreign relations committee, who with Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) accompanied Byrnes to Paris as an adviser, termed the secretary's address "lucid and comprehensive."

Final arrangements for the Salem High School Alumni association banquet at the Masonic temple Friday, May 31, honoring the graduating class of 170 seniors were completed at a meeting of the association's executive committee at the Memorial building last night.

Ralph Kircher, a graduate of the class of 1925 and the executive of a Dayton advertising firm, will be the speaker at the banquet, which will precede the annual dance in the temple ballroom.

Kircher's subject will be "It Ain't Necessarily So", which is the title of a book he recently had published.

Atty. Lozier Caplan, president of the association, announced that the dance following the banquet will be open to Salem High undergraduates as well as to the seniors and members of the association.

This procedure is a new one, since High school students formerly were not eligible to attend the dance. Tom Williams and his orchestra, a group of High school students, will play for the dance program.

Banquet proceedings will include the annual presentations of the three scholarship awards to members of the graduating class selected by the scholarship committee, several special novelty numbers by High school students and the introduction of new association officers who will be elected in a meeting previous to the banquet.

SS FUGITIVES, BLACK MARKET GOODS SOUGHT

400 Hungarian Boats Are Boarded; 3,000 Persons Rounded Up

(By Associated Press)

VILSHOFEN, Germany, May 21.—Four thousand American troops, striking by surprise at dawn today, raided a Hungarian river fleet suspected of smuggling SS fugitives, ammunition and black market supplies along the Danube river in southeastern Germany.

Vilshofen is on the Danube 12 miles northwest of Passau, which is on the Austrian-German border.

Nearly 400 boats, including many former units of the Hungarian navy, were boarded and searched by heavily armed U. S. constabulary troops.

Hundreds of the boats' occupants were removed for investigation by U. S. Army counter-intelligence agents. The report said that many machineguns and other weapons, radio transmitters and receivers, quantities of U. S. Army food, clothing and other contraband were found.

No armed resistance was encountered. The only shots fired were by American troops at three German river patrol boats cooperating in the raid, which were improperly marked and slow in heeding commands to halt. One German patrolman was wounded.

The raids covered a 45-mile stretch of the Danube from the Austrian border to Deggendorf.

At least 30 of the vessels seized—including 12 gunboats—were formerly part of the Hungarian navy and fought alongside the Nazis against the Russians, army officials said.

Aboard them were believed to be several hundred ex-enemy sailors and high ranking officers of the Hungarian navy who fled from the Black sea up the Danube ahead of Soviet forces near the end of the war and found sanctuary in the American occupation zone. There they remained comparatively unmolested for a year.

At midday there was no indication as to whether any hunted SS troopers actually had been discovered or whether the raiders had found Adm. Trunkwalter, whom U. S. agents described as the present commander of the remnants of Hungary's navy.

3,000 Are Questioned
Apparently caught completely by surprise, more than 3,000 persons, including women and children of 12 nationalities, were tumbled from their beds and rounded up to be held for quizzing by the command in chief.

Thirty-four minutes after the start, all ships were under the raiders' control.

The only physical resistance reported was an attack on one American soldier by a Hungarian armed with a shovel. He was quickly subdued without gunplay.

Miners In Pennsylvania Still Ignore Work Order
PITTSBURGH, May 21.—All but a fraction of Pennsylvania's 100,000 bituminous miners still ignored today John L. Lewis' order to dig essential coal during the two-week strike in the United Mine Workers' strike.

Eighteen additional western Pennsylvania mines shut down yesterday and four more closed in the central part of the state. Less than 15,000 miners remained on the job in both areas.

West Virginia had all but a scattered few of its 104,000 miners on the job while Ohio reported only 1,165 out of 18,000 diggers idle.

Find Woman's Body In Creek At Canton

CANTON, May 21.—Detectives today sought to identify a woman, about 40, whose nude body was found in Nimishillen creek.

Detective Capt. James B. Quilligan said circumstances of the woman's death had not been established but Dr. Edward C. Reno, Stark county coroner, reported he found a small quantity of water, sufficient to cause drowning, in her lungs. Dr. Reno estimated she had been dead at least 36 hours.

The woman had brown hair and eyes. She was about five feet one inch tall and weighed about 110 pounds, police said.

Postal Employees Get $400 Increase

WASHINGTON, May 21.—President Truman signed into law today a bill giving nearly all postal workers a $400 yearly pay increase.

Those who don't get the $400 boost are fourth class postmasters, who receive a 20 per cent raise, and part-time workers, who receive a 20 per cent raise, and part-time workers, who receive a gain of 20 cents hourly.

All the increases are retroactive to Jan. 1, 1946. Approximately 400,000 workers come under the measure. The total cost was estimated at approximately $160,000,000 yearly.

Postal workers received a $400 yearly increase July 1, 1945. Supporters of the newly-signed legislation said, however, that it was required to make up for added costs and a reduction since last July in the number of hours worked by most employees. The cut in hours eliminated overtime pay received by many.

Eight Film Firms Sue Ohio Operator

COLUMBUS, May 21.—George Manos, eastern Ohio chain theater operator, falsified statements of gross receipts for film rental computations, eight motion picture firms asserted in U. S. district court today.

The Toronto, O., operator and his two companies have engaged since 1939 in a "scheme" to submit to the picture firms "fraudulently false and incorrect statements on gross receipts," the firms said in a petition.

They asked the court to restrain Manos, Manos Amusement, Inc., and Romy Amusement, Inc., from destroying records kept for tax purposes.

Plaintiffs were Warner Brothers Picture Distributing Corp., Paramount Pictures, Inc., Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp., Loews, Inc., RKO-Radio Pictures, Inc., United Artists Corp., Universal Film Exchanges, Inc., and Columbia Pictures Corp.

Manos operates two theaters each in Lisbon, Youngstown and Toronto and one each in Columbiana, Leetonia, Minerva, Newton Falls and St. Clairsville.

Figures Show Why School Expansion In City Is Needed

Salem's board of education last night pondered a serious problem facing the city.

The problem is one that indicates a need for expansion and improvement of the city's school building accommodations.

It was outlined at the special meeting in the High school building by a detailed survey, based on present enrollments and birth records in the city since 1940.

The survey revealed that anticipated enrollments, beginning with the fall term this year and extending through the fall term of 1951, will jump from 1946's 1,175 grade students to approximately 1,502.

The board generally agreed that the figures mean this:

1) Additional facilities will have to be made available to take care of the load brought about by increased birth rates since 1940, without any consideration of the fact that at least one building now in use is beyond the repairable stage.

2) Columbia Street school is beyond safe usage and must be abandoned.

3) Columbia Street's present enrollment will have to be housed elsewhere, probably through an expansion program at Reilly school. (Tentative talk placed additions to make Reilly a 20 class room structure.)

4) Immediate expansion is a vital need at Fourth Street school's grade section, where enrollment will be 93 students above what is considered capacity this fall and will reach 228 students above the capacity by 1950.

5) Improvements in capacity, safety, health and teaching conditions are needed at Prospect Street, McKinley, Fourth Street's Junior High section and Reilly schools.

6) The High school is in need of a more complete athletic and recreational plant, as is the Junior High school.

7) Barring any improvements to outmoded structures now in the system, the grade schools alone will require at least 10 more school rooms by the fall of 1951.

Fourth Street School Is Crowded

Discussion of the problem was all the board accomplished last night, but the board members seemed impressed with the fact that action will have to be taken within the near future to alleviate the problem.

In Fourth Street grades alone, not considering the crowded condition of the Junior High located there, enrollment will be 373 next fall.

That figure is 93 students above what is considered by educational experts as maximum (and crowded) conditions. Further, the attendance there will rise to 434 in 1947, 478 in 1948, 492 in 1949, reaching a peak of 504 in 1950 and remaining at about 504 in 1951.

The maximum expected there in 1950 represents 228 students more than experts estimate as a crowded condition in the building.

At Reilly school, where present accommodations are considered too small, enrollment is expected to jump to 213 in the fall, which is three more than is considered top load. The increase would reach a peak in 1949, when an enrollment of 232 is expected.

Besides this, board members feel that 80-year-old Columbia school, now housing 184 students and expected to jump to 294 by 1951, should be abandoned.

Two Distinct Programs In Mind

Columbia students could be handled at Reilly school if facilities were expanded there to include about 20 class rooms.

The situation, the survey shows, is similar throughout the city, with large increases expected in every school but Prospect Street, where the enrollment will grow, but will not go beyond bounds considered reasonable for the facilities available.

Postal Employees Get $400 Increase

WASHINGTON, May 21.—President Truman signed into law today a bill giving nearly all postal workers a $400 yearly pay increase.

Those who don't get the $400 boost are fourth class postmasters, who receive a 20 per cent raise, and part-time workers, who receive a 20 per cent raise, and part-time workers, who receive a gain of 20 cents hourly.

All the increases are retroactive to Jan. 1, 1945. Approximately 400,000 workers come under the measure. The total cost was estimated at approximately $160,000,000 yearly.

Postal workers received a $400 yearly increase July 1, 1945. Supporters of the newly-signed legislation said, however, that it was required to make up for added costs and a reduction since last July in the number of hours worked by most employees. The cut in hours eliminated overtime pay received by many.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, May 21.—George Manos, eastern Ohio chain theater operator, falsified statements of gross receipts for film rental computations, eight motion picture firms asserted in U. S. district court today.

The Toronto, O., operator and his two companies have engaged since 1939 in a "scheme" to submit to the picture firms "fraudulently false and incorrect statements on gross receipts," the firms said in a petition.

They asked the court to restrain Manos, Manos Amusement, Inc., and Roxy Amusement, Inc., from destroying records kept for tax purposes.

Plaintiffs were Warner Brothers Picture Distributing Corp., Paramount Pictures, Inc., Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp., Loew's, Inc., RKO-Radio Pictures, Inc., United Artists Corp., Universal Film Exchanges, Inc., and Columbia Pictures Corp.

Manos operates two theaters each in Lisbon, Youngstown and Toronto and one each in Columbiana, Leetonia, Minerva, Newton Falls and St. Clairsville.

Byrnes Puts Russia On Spot Over Peace

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Secretary of State Byrnes gave Russia its choice today.

Stop blocking an European peace conference this summer, else the United States will walk out of the dragging Big Four treaty talks and carry the whole matter before the United Nations.

Proclaiming an American "offensive for peace," Byrnes left no doubt in his radio address to the nation last night that it would be carried out even at the expense of the basic postwar ideal that the great victor nations should act in unison to fashion the future.

The cabinet officer made it perfectly plain that he held Russia responsible for the disappointing outcome of the foreign ministers conference which recessed in Paris last Thursday until June 15.

His formal report on that conference listed a half dozen outstanding issues with Moscow on which he indicated the United States would not compromise.

From the aggressive but confident tone of his speech it was apparent—and officials confirmed this—that Byrnes is counting on Moscow conferences between Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and Premier Stalin during the recess to reverse or modify the Russian position on these questions.

Confident Of Peace Meeting

On the one looming biggest in his estimate—the making of peace treaties so that the nations of Europe can begin to "live and breathe" again, Byrnes declared he was confident there would be a peace conference of the European nations and other interested powers this summer.

Recalling that at Paris Molotov blocked such a proposal, Byrnes said this power to stop "all efforts toward peace" must not be left to any one nation and added:

"If a peace conference is not called this summer, the United States will feel obliged to request the general assembly of the United Nations under article 14 of the charter to make recommendations with respect to the peace settlements."

The article he cited gives the assembly power to intervene in any situation involving the general welfare of the world.

"There is no iron curtain," Byrnes said, "that the aggregate sentiments of mankind cannot penetrate."

Of the Paris meeting he said that progress toward peace settlements in Europe had been "disappointingly small" but that some progress

ALUMNI PLANS ARE COMPLETE

170 Senior Graduates Will Be Guests At May 31 Banquet

Final arrangements for the Salem High School Alumni association banquet at the Masonic temple Friday, May 31, honoring the graduating class of 170 seniors were completed at a meeting of the association's executive committee at the Memorial building last night.

Ralph Kircher, a graduate of the class of 1925 and the executive of a Dayton advertising firm, will be the speaker at the banquet, which will precede the annual dance in the temple ballroom.

Kircher's subject will be "It Ain't Necessarily So," which is the title of a book he recently had published.

Atty. Lozier Caplan, president of the association, announced that the dance following the banquet will be open to Salem High undergraduates as well as to the seniors and members of the association.

This procedure is a new one since High school students formerly were not eligible to attend the dance. Tom Williams and his orchestra, a group of High school students, will play for the dance program.

Banquet proceedings will include the annual presentations of the three scholarship awards to members of the graduating class selected by the scholarship committee, several special novelty numbers by High school students and the introduction of new association officers who will be elected in a meeting previous to the banquet.

Yank Identifies Nazi Who Started Malmady Massacre

(By Associated Press)

DACHAU, Germany, May 21.—A grim Kentucky soldier pointed today at a Nazi SS trooper and accused him of starting the Malmady massacre of 71 unarmed American prisoners of war by wantonly firing at them with his pistol.

Lt. Virgil P. Lary, Jr., of Lexington, testifying in the trial of 74 SS veterans in the Dachau war crimes court, was one of six Americans who survived the butchery at the Belgian town of Malmady during the winter battle of the Ardennes bulge 17 months ago. That was Germany's last offensive.

Lary climaxed his dramatic story by identifying Georg Pieps, 23, of the first Waffen SS Panzer regiment, as the killer.

The prosecution charges that the Germans slaughtered nearly 600 American prisoners of war during the winter battle of the Ardennes offensive, allowed the first Panzer regiment to hunt human beings for sport and issued "no prisoner" orders.

"We were standing in the field at Malmady crossroads, 150 to 175 of us, unarmed with our hands clasped over our heads," Lary testified. "I saw no wounded men. They were all Americans."

"Two vehicles drove up and parked on our flank and I saw a German place a machinegun over the side of one. Then another vehicle drove up and stopped between the other two. I saw a man take his pistol and aim in the direction of our group. He fired two shots from a distance of 15 yards."

SS FUGITIVES, BLACK MARKET GOODS SOUGHT

400 Hungarian Boats Are Boarded; 3,000 Persons Rounded Up

(By Associated Press)

VILSHOFEN, Germany, May 21.—Four thousand American troops, striking by surprise at dawn today, raided a Hungarian river fleet suspected of smuggling SS fugitives, ammunition and black market supplies along the Danube river in southeastern Germany.

Vilshofen is on the Danube 12 miles northwest of Passau, which is on the Austrian-German border.

Nearly 400 boats, including many former units of the Hungarian navy, were boarded and searched by heavily armed U. S. constabulary troops.

Hundreds of the boats' occupants were removed for investigation by U. S. Army counter-intelligence agents. The report said that many machineguns and other weapons, radio transmitters and receivers, quantities of U. S. Army food, clothing and other contraband were found.

Offer No Resistance

No armed resistance was encountered. The only shots fired were by American troops at three German river patrol boats cooperating in the raid, which were improperly marked and slow in heeding commands to halt. One German patrolman was wounded.

The raids covered a 45-mile stretch of the Danube from the Austrian border to Leggendorf.

At least 30 of the vessels seized, including 12 gunboats—were formerly part of the Hungarian navy and fought alongside the Nazis against the Russians, army officials said.

Aboard them were believed to be several hundred ex-enemy sailors and high ranking officers of the Hungarian navy who fled from the Black sea up the Danube ahead of Soviet forces near the end of the war and found sanctuary in the American occupation zone. There they remained comparatively unmolested for a year.

At midday there was no indication as to whether any hunted SS troopers actually had been discovered or whether the raiders had found Adm. Trunkwalter, whom U. S. agents described as the present commander of the remnants of Hungary's navy.

Miners In Pennsylvania Still Ignore Work Order

PITTSBURGH, May 21.—All but a fraction of Pennsylvania's 100,000 bituminous miners still ignored today John L. Lewis' order to dig essential coal during the two-week truce in the United Mine Workers' strike.

Eighteen additional western Pennsylvania mines shut down yesterday and four more closed in the central part of the state. Less than 15,500 miners remained on the job in both areas.

West Virginia had all but a scattered few of its 104,000 miners on the job while Ohio reported only 1,165 out of 18,900 diggers idle.

Salvage Operation

President Truman describes military inductions under the temporary law passed by Congress as saving "what we can from the near wreckage of the selective service system". The whole process of carrying out the nation's military commitments has become a salvage operation, to save what we can of the near wreckage of the nation's sense of duty.

What has happened to selective service is not unique. The deterioration of a national sense of duty is general. It is reflected in Congress. It is reflected in many phases of public administration. Certainly it is a factor in the collapse of industrial discipline. In a very real sense, the United States is involved in a grim ordeal of salvage. Our postwar reaction fits Hitler's specifications for democratic decadence.

We are testing ourselves in the crucible of our own confusion, to discover whether we have a residue of determination sufficient for American survival. That is the ultimate meaning of all the fumbling abroad and at home—fumbling which occasionally produces a workable policy and must produce more and more at an increasing rate. It is the ultimate meaning of all the efforts that are lumped together and called reconversion. It is the purpose of conferences in Paris, meetings of the United Nations in New York City, conferences in Washington. There is a great salvage operation afoot in the wake of war—to save what we can.

Labor's Public Welfare

When the effect of strikes on public welfare is mentioned, their specific effect on non-striking organized labor is implied. Public welfare is an inclusive phrase. It means the welfare of all the people.

The coal strike slowed or stopped production in many highly-organized industries. A coal and railroad strike together would be a fatal combination. Industrial production would come to a standstill.

The General Motors strike cut off the earning power of many thousands of union workmen who were not employed by General Motors. The steel strike had repercussions in every industry using steel.

There can be no such thing as an isolated strike. Every strike to some extent affects other workers, as part of the public against whom the strike is called. Other union workmen, the fact is, may be affected more directly than the rest of the public because of the inter-relation of materials and skills in industrial production.

This is an aspect of the strike as an instrument of organized labor policy that is bound to get more attention. Organized workers owe something to one another. They are not just so many independent groups, each striving for advantage at any cost; or if they are, there is no such thing as solidarity of labor. It is not organized, but disorganized.

Aggravated Assault

Another attempt is being made on the life of the House committee on un-American activities—the so-called Dies committee. One notes among the ambitious assassins, Representative Marcantonio of New York City, the far-left American Labor party's representative in Congress.

The committee's principal distinction during its years of ups and downs has been the character of its would-be assassins. They were uniformly pink or pinkish—avowed subversionists or tag-alongers. The fact is that the committee's activities have done more to bring to light the size and character of this group than any other agency. Its rate of activity could be measured at any given moment by the vehemence of protests from the brethren of the left. Gradually, the public caught on; they were afraid of it.

Unfortunately, the committee's operation under former Representative Dies was vulnerable. He hunted subversionists with more zeal than judgment sometimes. But he found a lot of them. They shrieked to high heaven in their fury. Lately, they have been quiet; the committee, having lost its original chairman, was marking time. It became a standing committee of the House a year ago last January, then dropped out of sight. The fact it is being attacked again suggests it may be getting ready to do something—something Marcantonio and associates wouldn't like.

Disenchanted

Dr. Hafez Afifi Pasha, singing his swan song as temporary president of United Nations security council, declared that the "great mass of humanity is disappointed with the state of affairs that prevails in the world a whole year after V-E day".

The Egyptian delegate's description would have been improved had he said that the mass of humanity is disenchanted. Its disappointment was inevitable. During the war, when the prospect of endless slaughter was too terrible to face, men fell under the spell of their wishful thoughts.

They believed, because they wanted to believe, that with the end of war there would come about a miracle which would transform human nature and thereby secure eternal peace. They sought to promote his miracle with an organization bearing the hopeful title: United Nations. They ignored the reality that the nations were not united; that unity was a warmime illusion.

What has happened is that war-born hopes are being battered by the impact of realities overlooked by millions of human beings who didn't want to face them. Fortunately, not everyone was enchanted. A few saw clearly what was coming and consequently are not disappointed. Rather, they are more determined than ever to strive for cooperative security, not on a basis of unity but on a basis of common survival.

Not Counting The Cost

John L. Lewis, his severest critics concede, is a shrewd union labor executive. He usually gets what he goes after, or enough of it to constitute a triumph for his leadership. It is no secret, of course, that other labor leaders are kept on their toes by his tactics; they must not let the doughty head of the Mine Workers get too far ahead of them.

Some 20 years ago, in the course of winning his point at any cost, Mr. Lewis virtually broke the miners' union organization and speeded research into the potentialities of other kinds of fuel. More recently, during the war, Mr. Lewis dramatized as no other labor leader could have dramatized, the potential disaster lurking in union executives grown so strong they dare to defy government itself.

The repercussions of his latest demonstration of power are still forthcoming. But once more Mr. Lewis has not counted the cost to the whole country. He has held to a single purpose, which was to bring the national economy to its knees first, then to dictate the terms on which his organization would permit it to stand upright. It has been a vivid performance. Perhaps it will be as great a victory as that scored on the Romans by King Pyrrhus, who said afterward: "One more such victory, and we are utterly done."

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Cancerous Growths Curable If Recognized Early

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE words "too late" are never more tragic than when they refer to cancer, because here they mean all the difference between life and death. When proper treatment is begun early enough, this otherwise fatal disease can usually be cured.

Cancer of the rectum, or lower part of the bowel, for instance, kills nine thousand people in the United States every year. Many, many more than it should, according to Doctor William H. Daniel of Los Angeles, who says this death rate is entirely too high and due only to the fact that so many patients receive treatment too late.

Gradual Symptoms

Unfortunately, cancer in this part of the body, as in so many other areas, does not produce severe symptoms at the start and the victim does not realize his danger. It does, however, produce some changes. They are gradual and slight at first, but they can be recognized by those who have learned how to look for them.

In the first place, the majority of patients with this type of cancer are between 50 and 70 years of age. In only one out of five cases does it develop before 50 and in only one out of 30 does it occur between the ages of 20 and 30. Thus, people in the danger-zone of 50 to 70 should be especially alert.

As for what to watch for, the most frequent sign or symptom of cancer of the rectum is a change in the bowel action, such as diarrhea. There may be blood and mucus in the bowel movement which the patient can see by careful observation, as well as slight discomfort in the abdomen and in some instances there may be signs of blocking of the bowel such as gradually increasing constipation. Actual pain is not present at the beginning and may not occur until late in the disease.

Proper Examination

On the other hand, proper examination will reveal most cases of cancer of the rectum. This examination should include the use of an instrument known as the sigmoidoscope, a tube with a light which can be passed into the lower bowel, making it possible for the physician to examine the lining membrane, directly and see the abnormal structure.

The growth at the beginning may be small or it may have the useful. But bear in mind that it is only with early treatment that the patient's life can be saved.

Persons should be on the lookout for changes in bowel action and, if they occur, should not delay in having an examination made by a physician.

If you ask a family that has one—
you'll choose the GAS
REFRIGERATOR

Thousands have waited to own a Gas refrigerator—the only refrigerator that offers a long time bonus in silence and freedom from repairs. In addition to the best features modern design can devise, they are deeply impressed by the reports of neighbors who already enjoy Gas refrigeration.

The fortunate owners rave about the space to spare for meats, fruits and vegetables, frozen foods . . . just right temperatures and humidity to keep all foods deliciously fresh . . . clever adjustable shelves to make food arrangement easier than ever before. But over and above all this, they appreciate the fact that there are no moving parts in the freezing system—nothing to wear or break down.

During the war they didn't have to worry about repairs when repairs were hard to get. They'll tell you, "By all means, be sure—buy a GAS refrigerator."

Salvage Operation

President Truman describes military inductions under the temporary law passed by Congress as saving "what we can from the near wreckage of the selective service system". The whole process of carrying out the nation's military commitments has become a salvage operation, to save what we can of the near wreckage of the nation's sense of duty.

What has happened to selective service is not unique. The deterioration of a national sense of duty is general. It is reflected in Congress. It is reflected in many phases of public administration. Certainly it is a factor in the collapse of industrial discipline. In a very real sense, the United States is involved in a grim ordeal of salvage. Our postwar reaction fits Hitler's specifications for democratic decadence.

We are testing ourselves in the crucible of our own confusion, to discover whether we have a residue of determination sufficient for American survival. That is the ultimate meaning of all the fumbling abroad and at home—fumbling which occasionally produces a workable policy and must produce many more and at an increasing rate. It is the ultimate meaning of all the efforts that are lumped together and called reconversion. It is the purpose of conferences in Paris, meetings of the United Nations in New York City, conferences in Washington. There is a great salvage operation afoot in the wake of war—to save what we can.

Labor's Public Welfare

When the effect of strikes on public welfare is mentioned, their specific effect on non-striking organized labor is implied. Public welfare is an inclusive phrase. It means the welfare of all the people.

The coal strike slowed or stopped production in many highly-organized industries. A coal and railroad strike together would be a fatal combination. Industrial production would come to a standstill.

The General Motors strike cut off the earning power of many thousands of union workmen who were not employed by General Motors. The steel strike had repercussions in every industry using steel.

There can be no such thing as an isolated strike. Every strike to some extent affects other workers, as part of the public against whom the strike is called. Other union workmen, the fact is, may be affected more directly than the rest of the public because of the inter-relation of materials and skills in industrial production.

This is an aspect of the strike as an instrument of organized labor policy that is bound to get more attention. Organized workers owe something to one another. They are not just so many independent groups, each striving for advantage at any cost; or if they are, there is no such thing as solidarity of labor. It is not organized, but disorganized.

Aggravated Assault

Another attempt is being made on the life of the House committee on un-American activities—the so-called Dies committee. One notes among the ambitious assassins, Representative Marcantonio of New York City, the far-left American Labor party's representative in Congress.

The committee's principal distinction during its years of ups and downs has been the character of its would-be assassins. They were uniformly pink or pinkish—avowed subversionists or tag-alongers. The fact is that the committee's activities have done more to bring to light the size and character of this group than any other agency. Its rate of activity could be measured at any given moment by the vehemence of protests from the brethren of the left. Gradually, the public caught on; they were afraid of it.

Unfortunately, the committee's operation under former Representative Dies was vulnerable. He hunted subversionists with more zeal than judgment sometimes. But he found a lot of them. They shrieked to high heaven in their fury. Lately, they have been quiet; the committee, having lost its original chairman, was marking time. It became a standing committee of the House a year ago last January, then dropped out of sight. The fact it is being attacked again suggests it may be getting ready to do something—something Marcantonio and associates wouldn't like.

Disenchanted

Dr. Hafez Afifi Pasha, singing his swan song as temporary president of United Nations security council, declared that the "great mass of humanity is disappointed with the state of affairs that prevails in the world a whole year after V-E Day".

The Egyptian delegate's description would have been improved had he said that the mass of humanity is disenchanted. Its disappointment was inevitable. During the war, when the prospect of endless slaughter was too terrible to face, men fell under the spell of their wishful thoughts.

They believed, because they wanted to believe, that with the end of war there would come about a miracle which would transform human nature and hereby secure eternal peace. They sought to promote his miracle with an organization bearing the hopeful title: United Nations. They ignored the reality that the nations were not united; that unity was a wartime illusion.

What has happened is that war-born hopes are being battered by the impact of realities overlooked by millions of human beings who didn't want to face them. Fortunately, not everyone was enchanted. A few saw clearly what was coming and consequently are not disappointed. Rather, they are more determined than ever to strive for cooperative security, not on a basis of unity but on a basis of common survival.

Not Counting The Cost

John L. Lewis, his severest critics concede, is a shrewd union labor executive. He usually gets what he goes after, or enough of it to constitute a triumph for his leadership. It is no secret, of course, that other labor leaders are kept on their toes by his tactics; they must not let the doughy head of the Mine Workers get too far ahead of them.

Some 20 years ago, in the course of winning his point at any cost, Mr. Lewis virtually broke the miners' union organization and speeded research into the potentialities of other kinds of fuel. More recently, during the war, Mr. Lewis dramatized as no other labor leader could have dramatized, the potential disaster lurking in union executives grown so strong they dare to defy government itself.

The repercussions of his latest demonstration of power are still forthcoming. But once more Mr. Lewis has not counted the cost to the whole country. He has held to a single purpose, which was to bring the national economy to its knees first, then to dictate the terms on which his organization would permit it to stand upright. It has been a vivid performance. Perhaps it will be as great a victory as that scored on the Romans by King Pyrrhus, who said afterward: "One more such victory, and we are utterly done."

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, May 23.

SUSTAINED concentration of energies, assets and novel techniques may be accelerated in the way of attaining high adventure or dramatic crises, with some unprecedented opportunity for reaching high hopes and wishes, far beyond the fondest expectations. It is urged that sensible, logical and calm approach to those in influential positions may be of great aid to achievement of spectacular or romantic goals. Work with strategy and sound plans but with regulated energies, emotions and impulses for best results.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a spectacular and thrilling opportunity for attaining surprising objectives, that seem to arise "from the blue" to dramatic and breath-taking culminations. But such openings should be grasped with precision, ingenuity and even clever strategies, rather than forced issues or emotional impulses.

Exciting changes, radical moves, with surprising expansion of a financial, social, romantic and dramatic experience seem assured with good luck and fair fortune. Beware tempest, confusion and accident.

A child born on this day may be brilliant, ambitious and adventurous, reaching advanced goals on the ladder of success and exceptional achievement.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Cancerous Growths Curable If Recognized Early

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE words "too late" are never more tragic than when they refer to cancer, because here they mean all the difference between life and death. When proper treatment is begun early enough, this otherwise fatal disease can usually be cured.

Cancer of the rectum, or lower part of the bowel, for instance, kills nine thousand people in the United States every year. Many, many more than it should, according to Doctor William H. Daniel of Los Angeles, who says this death rate is entirely too high and due only to the fact that so many patients receive treatment too late.

Gradual Symptoms

Unfortunately, cancer in this part of the body, as in so many other areas, does not produce severe symptoms at the start and the victim does not realize his danger. It does, however, produce some changes. They are gradual and slight at first, but they can be recognized by those who have learned how to look for them.

In the first place, the majority of patients with this type of cancer are between 50 and 70 years of age. In only one out of five cases does it develop before 50 and in only one out of 30 does it occur between the ages of 20 and 30. Thus, people in the danger-zone of 50 to 70 should be especially alert.

As for what to watch for, the most frequent sign or symptom of cancer of the rectum is a change in the bowel action, such as diarrhea. There may be blood and mucus in the bowel movement which the patient can see by careful observation, as well as slight discomfort in the abdomen and in some instances there may be signs of blocking of the bowel such as gradually increasing constipation. Actual pain is not present at the beginning and may not occur until late in the disease.

On the other hand, proper examination will reveal most cases of cancer of the rectum. This examination should include the use of an instrument known as the sigmoidoscope, a tube with a light which can be passed into the lower bowel, making it possible for the physician to examine the lining membrane, directly and see the abnormal structure.

The growth at the beginning may be small or it may have the form of an ulcer or sore with firm edges. If there is any question about the diagnosis, a small bit of the tissue in which cancer is suspected to be present may be removed and examined under the microscope.

X-ray examination is also helpful when it shows a defect in the lowest eight inches of the bowel, but sometimes may be misleading, since various parts of the bowel may obscure the area in which the growth is located.

Cancer in the rectum, as in cancers in other parts of the body, is treated best by early surgery. X-ray treatments, of course, are also useful. But bear in mind that it is only with early treatment that the patient's life can be saved.

Persons should be on the lookout for changes in bowel action and, if they occur, should not delay in having an examination made by a physician.

High Command Ordered Nazis to Forget Scruples

DACHAU, Germany, May 21.—The prosecution at the trial of 74 Nazi officers and men charged with slaying unarmed American prisoners during the battle of the Bulge read into the record today a statement that the Germans were ordered to ignore "all scruples and humane feelings."

The statement, allegedly made by Capt. Oskar Kinkelhoefer, one of the defendants, said that the first SS Panzer regiment received these orders:

"Ahead of us there shall be terror and horror. We should remember in this fight especially the cities that have suffered tremendously during the bombing attacks and have suffered great misery. Therefore all scruples and humane feelings shall be thrown overboard. No prisoners of war will be taken."

The prosecution maintains that close to 800 American prisoners were murdered in the advance of the first Panzer regiment.

BEWARE OF PIN-WORMS

Medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children and adults are victims of Pin-Worms.

Watch for the warning signs, especially the embarrassing, nagging rectal itch. After centuries of Pin-Worm distress a really effective way to deal with them has been established through JAYNE'S P.W., the new Pin-Worm treatment developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son.

The small, easy-to-take P.W. tablets give satisfaction or your money back. So why take chances on Pin-Worms! If you suspect this ugly infection, ask your druggist for P.W. and follow the directions. It's easy to remember: P.W. for Pin-Worms!

Human Lightning Rod Recovers From 10th Hit In Two Decades

(By Associated Press)
KENTON, May 21—Lightning has struck Charles Brown into a cosmic bowling alley—registering its 10th strike on Kenton's human lightning rod.
But the 49-year-old Negro trucker today was fully recovered, three days after lightning blasted him to the floor of Kenton's public library as he extended his hand to take a book from the librarian.
A native of Kenton, Brown underwent his first experience with lightning two decades past and his last strike three years ago.
Miss Bella Ellis, assistant librarian, said today "it looked like a ball of fire came through the closed window. It exploded in a shower of sparks and with an awful noise right where the man was sitting."
Miss Ellis was standing about two feet from Brown, she added. He asked for a book on Negroes and she handed him one.
Brown exclaimed "Oh!" and slumped. It was perhaps 10 minutes before he spoke again. When he left, it was with assistance. Miss Ellis said she thought his leg had been temporarily paralyzed.
Brown was sitting about 18 feet from the window.

PLAN FOR DEFENSE OF AMERICAS

WHEN PRESIDENT TRUMAN, in a message to Congress, outlined a new program of inter-American military collaboration, he proposed that the United States standardize hemispheric defenses as well as the training and equipping of armed forces in the Americas. The military and naval strength of these American states, as shown above, is based on figures made public before the outbreak of World War II. With the Rio de Janeiro conference scheduled for September, it is the aim of the President to have advance approval of Congress before the U. S. and Latin American republics begin to draw up a mutual defense treaty. It is pointed out that a defense treaty without proper military and naval equipment to enforce it would have no meaning. On map, "A" refers to the Army while "N" indicates only large warships. (International)

Wields Sponge, Chamois On Vehicles Fifty Years

KENTON, May 20—Fifty years and 146,000 buggies, wagons and automobiles later, John Barker of Kenton, dean of the town's vehicle laundries, still is wielding his sponge and chamois.
Barker, who won't confess to about 65 years of life, has begun his 51st year, vowing "I'm good for another 50 years."
The Kenton man's prolonged wash-day began May 18, 1888, at a Kenton livery stable, where he kept 110 rigs, minus the horses, clean.
"In my spare time," Barker grins, "I tended the horses and drove for funerals."
Barker moved with the times. In 1908 he added automobiles to his list of things to clean.
He has begun to eye airplanes with a speculative gleam in his eyes.

Nation Must Rid Self of Expensive Habits—Clark

MIDDLETOWN, May 21—U. S. Attorney General Tom C. Clark says the United States has "come of age" in world affairs and must rid itself of habits which are "too expensive and too juvenile for vast, rich, powerful America."
The attorney general spoke yesterday at an "I am an American day" celebration here which attracted 11,000 persons.
"We must rid ourselves of such things as organized bigotry," Clark declared, "and I mean, specifically, the Ku Klux Klan, which recently had the temerity to burn fiery crosses of hate in Georgia and California, and perhaps other places."
There are only five counties in Rhode Island, smallest state in the Union.

CIO Protests Against
Auto Price Increases
DETROIT, May 21—The CIO United Auto Workers today filed a formal protest with the OPA against increased automobile prices.
Walter P. Reuther, UAW-CIO president, asked OPA administrator Paul Porter to designate a board of review to hear union claims that increased auto prices are not made necessary by recent wage increases, and are in violation of the President's order on Wage-price policy.
The union complaint charged that recent price increases will add $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 a year to the cost of cars to consumers.
This is in addition, the protest said, to the $500,000,000 added to consumer cost earlier this year as a result of price boosts.

Mancuso, O'Hanlon, Means, Newell To Play With "All-Stars"

Columbiana county will be well represented on the Northern Ohio All-Stars High school football team, which will collide with the Southern Ohio All-Stars at the Toledo White stadium, Toledo, on Aug. 16.

Heralding in a new procedure in connection with the annual Ohio Coaches' association meeting each summer, the All-Star game is an added feature which gives the state's best in football an opportunity to play as a unit under some of the nation's top coaches. Pat Mancuso of Leetonia, an All-County selection for the past two years, Chuck Means, East Liverpool quarterback, and Dick O'Hanlon, also of East Liverpool and a tackle, were picked by an Ohio coaches' committee as first team nominees on the Northern Ohio team.

The dividing line for the Northern and Southern teams runs between Mercer and Darke counties in the west to between Columbiana and Jefferson counties on the eastern side of the state.

Bill Newell, stellar Columbiana halfback and an All-County first teamer for two years, was selected as an alternate halfback on the Northern squad. He will be given an opportunity to take part in the Aug. 16 game if one of the first team halfbacks should be unable to play.

The Northern Ohio team will be coached by Paul Bixler and his staff of assistants from Ohio State while the Southern team will play under Frank Leahy of Notre Dame.

The players named to the teams will report to Toledo on Aug. 9 and will go through extensive training there until game time. All expenses will be paid from the proceeds of the game, which will be a climax to the annual coaches' school, scheduled at the same time.

Complete list of players selected to play on the Northern team include:

Cubs Continue Surge Toward N. L. Leadership

GOOD HITTING OVERBALANCES WEAK HURLING

Passeau's Round Tripper Big Blow In 6-4 Win Over Boston Club

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

Chicago's neglected National league champs, ignored in the early rush to top on the St. Louis bandwagon, have tipped into the race while the Cards and Dodgers were looking the other way and now are within two games of first place.

"Jolly Cholly" Grimm once again is clowning in his third base coaching box and the Bruin runs are flowing across the plate at a near-1945 pace. Since the Cubs left home for their first eastern swing, they have won four of five starts. They have copped seven of their last 10 outings although only four starting pitchers have gone the route.

Phil Cavarretta, the defending batting king, and Andy Pafko, an all-star centerfielder, are two big reasons for Chicago's climb. Cavarretta has started to thump the ball at his customary pace and Pafko, who was benched for weak hitting earlier in the season, has hit a sizzling 415 over the last 10 games.

Jurges Main Cog

Ancient Billy Jurges, signed as a part-time coach after being cut loose by the Boston Braves, has played an important part at short-stop and third base.

Claude Passeau was the most important factor in last night's 6-4 triumph in Boston. The 37-year-oldster, who tossed a one-hitter in the last World Series, belted a two-run homer that kayoed Mort Cooper in the second inning. He also added a double to the Bruins' 11-hit attack, but Bob Chipman had to come in to help in the ninth after three straight hits had loaded the bases.

Brooklyn closed in on the Cardinals, slicing their lead to a half-game, by downing Cincinnati, 4-3, before 27,376 customers at Ebbets field. Lefty Vic Lombardi out-bowed Bucky Walters, yielding only six hits and adding two singles to the Brooks' seven-blow attack.

The four other clubs in the National and Boston, Philadelphia, Detroit and St. Louis in the American were not scheduled.

Washington continued to sizzle

SALEM PISTOL CLUB WINS OVER SHARON

With Dr. D. E. Lease and Grant Dick setting the pace, the Salem Revolver and Pistol club opened competition in the newly-formed inter-city Revolver league last night at the city garage by outshooting the Sharon team, 1139 to 1021.

The locals fired 12 men and Sharon seven with the top five scores from each team making up the total.

Lease posted a 255 and Dick a 249 as the Salem team chalked up an easy win. A. J. Muslin's 230 was high for the visitors.

Salem will duel with the other five teams in the league, Sharon, Warren, Youngstown, New Castle and Ravenna, in a tournament at 2:30 p. m. June 9 in Warren.

through the west, trimming Chicago 10-2 for its eighth triumph in the last 10 games. Dutch Leonard, who beat the White Sox six times last year, continued his perfect record and ran the strike to four in a row although nicked for 11 hits. The Senators, supposedly allergic to left-handers, thumped Ed Smith and Frank Papias for eight of their 10 safeties. Chicago's only scores were homers by Taft Wright and Whitey Platt.

Cleveland won the day's most dramatic contest, 4-3, from New York, on Ken Keltner's ninth-inning home run off Reliever Bill Zuber. Nick Etten and Bill Dickey had tied the score with successive round trippers in the Yankee half of the frame. Etten also hit one earlier off Steve Gronck, who lasted the nine hits to score his sixth straight over New York.

Joe DiMaggio, benched because of a leg injury, broke into the lineup as a pinchhitter and played the last inning in center field.

Quick on the Trigger

Class B Managers To Meet at 8 Thursday

Managers or representatives of all teams planning to enter Class B softball this year are asked to attend a meeting in the Memorial building at 8 p. m. Thursday, Joe Kelley announced today.

Kelley plans to begin the Class B season on the field adjoining Reilly stadium next week, if arrangements can be completed.

Special ground rules will have to be adopted there, as the diamond is actually too small for softball play.

The Class B league has been held up this season because no grounds are available other than the field near the stadium. City council has promised action to alleviate the condition, but no report has been made.

Cubs Continue Surge Toward N. L. Leadership

GOOD HITTING OVERBALANCES WEAK HURLING

Passeau's Round Tripper Big Blow In 6-4 Win Over Boston Club

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

Chicago's neglected National league champs, ignored in the early rush to hop on the St. Louis bandwagon, have tipped into the race while the Cards and Dodgers were looking the other way and now are within two games of first place.

"Jolly Cholly" Grimm once again is clowning in his third base coaching box and the Bruin runs are flowing across the plate at a near-1945 pace. Since the Cubs left home for their first eastern swing, they have won four of five starts. They have topped seven of their last 10 outings although only four starting pitchers have gone the route.

Phil Cavarretta, the defending batting king, and Andy Pafko, an all-star centerfielder, are two big reasons for Chicago's climb. Cavarretta has started to thump the ball at his customary pace and Pafko, who was benched for weak hitting earlier in the season, has hit a sizzling .415 over the last 10 games.

Jurges Main Cog

Ancient Billy Jurges, signed as a part-time coach after being cut loose by the Boston Braves, has played an important part at short-stop and third base.

Claude Passeau was the most important factor in last night's 6-4 triumph in Boston. The 37-year-oldster, who tossed a one-hitter in the last World Series, belted a two-run homer that kayoed Mort Cooper in the second inning. He also added a double to the Bruins' 11-hit attack, but Bob Chipman had to come in to help in the ninth after three straight hits had loaded the bases.

Brooklyn closed in on the Cardinals, slicing their lead to a half-game, by downing Cincinnati, 4-3, before 27,376 customers at Ebbets field. Lefty Vic Lombardi outlabeled Bucky Walters, yielding only six hits and adding two singles to the Brooks' seven-blow attack.

The four other clubs in the National, and Boston, Philadelphia, Detroit and St. Louis in the American, were not scheduled.

SALEM PISTOL CLUB WINS OVER SHARON

With Dr. D. E. Lease and Grant Dick setting the pace, the Salem Pistol Club won the newly-formed inter-city Revolver league last night at the city garage by outshooting the Sharon team, 1139 to 1021.

The locals fired 12 men and Sharon seven with the top five scores from each team making up the total.

Lease posted a 255 and Dick a 249 as the Salem team chalked up an easy win. A. J. Muslin's 230 was high for the visitors.

Salem will duel with the other five teams in the league, Sharon, Warren, Youngstown, New Castle and Ravenna, in a tournament at 2:30 p. m. June 9 in Warren.

through the west, trimming Chicago 10-2 for its eighth triumph in its last 10 games. Dutch Leonard, who beat the White Sox six times last year, continued his perfect record and ran this year's string to four in a row although nicked for 11 hits. The Senators, supposedly allergic to left-handers, thumped Ed Smith and Frank Pappish for eight of their 10 safeties. Chicago's only scores were homers by Taft Wright and Whitey Platt.

Cleveland won the day's most dramatic contest, 4-3, from New York, on Ken Keltner's ninth-inning home run off Reliever Bill Zuber. Nick Etten and Bill Dickey had tied the score with successive round trippers in the Yankee half of the frame. Etten also hit one earlier off Steve Gromek, who lasted the nine beats to score his sixth straight over New York.

Joe DiMaggio, benched because of a leg injury, broke into the lineup as a pinchhitter and played the last inning in center field.

Quick on the Trigger

Class B Managers To Meet at 8 Thursday

Managers or representatives of all teams planning to enter Class B softball this year are asked to attend a meeting in the Memorial building at 8 p. m. Thursday, Joe Kelley announced today.

Kelley plans to begin the Class B season on the field adjoining Reilly stadium next week, if arrangements can be completed.

Special ground rules will have to be adopted there, as the diamond is actually too small for softball play.

The Class B league has been held up this season because no grounds are available other than the field near the stadium. City council has promised action to alleviate the condition, but no report has been made.

Boyle's COLUMN

By HAL BOYLE

BERLIN—Adolph Hitler, alive or dead, is becoming a German legend—comparable to Siegfried or Friedrich Barbarossa.

One year after his weird and cloudy downfall, the little man with the mustache still has a strange hold upon the affections of his defeated people.

They don't curse him as the Italians curse Mussolini. Hitler has a secure place in their minds and memories because the Teuton clings to his leader longer than other folk. He is born to the hero concept—the superman who will save him from the malice of other lands and lead him to the doorstep of the stars. Always with a sword, of course.

Many Germans who disliked Nazi extremes and now foresee decades of humiliation and economic slavery for their nation still look back forlornly on the man who brought them to this sorry dilemma.

They find excuses for the inhuman excesses practiced in his name. They want to keep him in their hearts without stain out of old loyalty, as a fond son would overlook the sins of a senile father. This applies to young as well as to middle-aged Germans.

"Hitler was a sincere idealist who tried to do the best he could for his country," one intelligent, well-educated girl told me. "He was German through and through. He didn't know all the cruel things that were done in his name. He was betrayed by men around him who withheld information from him."

"In the last months of the war he broke down under the strain and did things he normally wouldn't have done. He wasn't crazy, but sometimes he didn't know quite what he was doing."

There is no widespread wish to have Hitler back, but even those who opposed him are glad of one fact—that he isn't being tried as a war criminal.

"It is well that he died on the battlefield," said one German. "It would have been a national shame to have had our fuhrer sit before a foreign court to be condemned to death. We wouldn't like that. No true German would, however he felt about Hitler."

Most Germans believe Hitler is dead. Among the lower classes, however, there are thousands who think him still alive and perhaps still even in the country. Some fanatical followers have elevated him to the rank of demi-god and believe he will return at some future hour to restore his battered fatherland.

This puts him in the same class as that great medieval warrior Friedrich Barbarossa who died while swimming a river in 1190 after his legions had been defeated during a crusade. Mystic minded Germans claim he dwells in a cave in an enchanted hill in the Hartz mountains.

As one German encyclopedia puts it: "When the future of Germany is in doubt and there is no one else to rescue it, he will emerge and the golden age of Germany will begin. Meanwhile his red beard is growing through the table of stone at which he sits, and from time to time the emperor moves his blond head to listen whether the ravens still are flying around the mountain."

When the guardian ravens cease their timeless flight, that is the signal for old Friedrich to come out. One Jewish girl to whom I talked told me that if Hitler ever makes any such dramatic return he would be torn to pieces by the people.

Asked what she would do if Hitler could be given alive into her hands, she said:

"I would first lead him on foot through all of Germany and show him what he had done to his country and his people. Then I would spit on him and kill him."

punched through the 79th floor of the 102-story Empire state building, killing three fliers and 11 office workers.

The public relations officers at Newark airport, where the victims of last night's tragedy were based, said the plane was on a routine navigational training flight from Smyrna, Tenn., to Newark.

The dead were listed by the War department as:

Maj. Mansel R. Campbell, 27, the pilot, Pontiac, Mich., his wife, Mona, lives at Ewart, Mich.

Capt. Tom L. Hall, 29, of Austin, Tex. He listed his beneficiary as his wife, Helen Lindseth Hall, Sioux Falls, S. D.

1st Lt. Angelo A. Ross, 28, Whitehall, N. Y.

WAC 1st Lt. Mary E. Bond, Newtown, Pa.

The ship ripped a 15-foot hole through the corner of the building as it plowed into the offices of the Atlas Corp. The bank building fronts on 40 Wall Street and runs back into 33 Pine st.

Police said the pilot and another officer were thrown clear of the plane by the impact, and their bodies were found on the rug in the Atlas offices. The other bodies were found slammed into the front part of the plane.

Lands On Window Ledge
A valise containing some of Lt. Bond's clothing was buried from the plane and landed intact on the ledge of a 15th floor window of the building at 30 Pine st. across the street from the crash. A wing and the landing gear fell into Pine st., along with chunks of masonry and bits of broken glass.

One of the wheels hit Pine st. and rebounded four stories to a building opposite the scene of the crash.

An eyewitness, J. J. Phillips, said he heard the roar of the low flying plane and anticipated the crash.

"I looked out of my window just as it struck the building," he said. "There was a great flash of flame and the ship fell apart."

Mrs. Emily Defene, of the Bronx, an employee of the War Assets administration, who was in a lunchroom on the seventh floor at the time of the crash, said she heard the crash and saw flames pass the window.

"The shock was so great that we were stunned for a moment," she said.

"This is the man who fired the two shots into the field on Dec. 17, 1944," Lary said.

Lary said he dropped down in the mud when the pistol shots were fired. Machineguns started firing in about three minutes and he was wounded in the leg.

"I heard screams and then some single shots like pistol shots in the field," he testified. "After the single shots, the groaning stopped. I heard only laughter from the men in the road. Some walked past my head and fired."

Lary said he lay in the field about 90 minutes before he heard another American soldier say "Let's go."

"Those of us who could get up and made a break," he said. "I stepped over numerous bodies and ran. Another machinegun opened up. There were well over 100 bodies in the field. About 15 of us made the break. I crossed a barbed wire fence and crawled into a little shed. I covered myself with sticks and stayed there until after dark. I heard more screams and shots from the field."

Lary said he then hobbled for two miles to a little town where two Belgian girls helped him to an American aid station.

Boyle's COLUMN

By HAL BOYLE

BERLIN—Adolf Hitler, alive or dead, is becoming a German legend—comparable to Siegfried or Friedrich Barbarossa.

One year after his weird and cloudy downfall, the little man with the mustache still has a strange hold upon the affections of his defeated people.

They don't curse him as the Italians curse Mussolini. Hitler has a secure place in their minds and memories because the Teuton clings to his leader longer than other folk. He is born to the hero concept—the superman who will save him from the malice of other lands and lead him to the doorstep of the stars. Always with a sword, of course.

Many Germans who disliked Nazi extremes and now foresee decades of humiliation and economic slavery for their nation still look back forgivingly on the man who brought them to this sorry dilemma.

They find excuses for the inhuman excesses practiced in his name. They want to keep him in their hearts without stain out of old loyalty, as a fond son would overlook the sins of a senile father. This applies to young as well as to middle aged Germans.

"Hitler was a sincere idealist who tried to do the best he could for his country," one intelligent, well educated girl told me. "He was German through and through. He didn't know all the cruel things that were done in his name. He was betrayed by men around him who withheld information from him."

"In the last months of the war he broke down under the strain and did things he normally wouldn't have done. He wasn't crazy, but sometimes he didn't know quite what he was doing."

There is no widespread wish to have Hitler back, but even those who opposed him are glad of one fact—that he isn't being tried as a war criminal.

"It is well that he died on the battlefield," said one German. "It would have been a national shame to have had our fuhrer sit before a foreign court to be condemned to death. We wouldn't like that. No true German would, however he felt about Hitler."

Most Germans believe Hitler is dead. Among the lower classes, however, there are thousands who think him still alive and perhaps still even in the country. Some fanatical followers have elevated him to the rank of demi-god and believe he will return at some future hour to restore his battered fatherland.

This puts him in the same class as that great medieval warrior Friedrich Barbarossa who died while swimming a river in 1190 after his legions had been defeated during a crusade. Mystic minded Germans claim he dwells in a cave in an enchanted hill in the Harz mountains.

As one German encyclopedia puts it: "When the future of Germany is in doubt and there is no one else to rescue it, he will emerge and the golden age of Germany will begin. Meanwhile his red beard is growing through the table of stone at which he sits, and from time to time the emperor moves his blond head to listen whether the ravens still are flying around the mountain."

When the guardian ravens cease their timeless flight, that is the signal for old Friedrich to come out. One Jewish girl to whom I talked told me that if Hitler ever makes any such dramatic return he would be torn to pieces by the people.

Asked what she would do if Hitler could be given alive into her hands, she said:

"I would first lead him on foot through all of Germany and show him what he had done to his country and his people. Then I would spit on him and kill him."
